The grandfather's birthday

- Hi Richard!
 - This is just a quick message, because I'm really busy. We're all getting for my grandfather's birthday. There's a big family party this evening in the garden, with about 40 people. So this afternoon we're cleaning and tidying up. My mother is cooking in the kitchen and my aunts are helping her. Dad is putting up lights in the garden at the moment, and my uncle is organising the table and chairs. My cousin are here too, but they aren't helping much - they're playing computer games.
 - I must go now. See you on Monday.

“What are you doing?”

- Hi!
- How are you? I'm not doing anything very interesting. I'm sitting in my room and I'm listening to the radio. They're playing old 1970s songs at the moment. The cat is here too - she's sleeping on my bed. My sisters are watching TV in the living room and they're laughing like idiots. Mum is cooking the dinner in the kitchen. Dad isn't there at the moment - he's working tonight. It's raining here and I'm feeling bored. What about you? What are you doing? Write and tell me what's happening.
