

THE PEPPERCOAT

A simple wool coat with fleece lining soaked in peppermint oil to repel rats on those chilly trench evenings. The peppercoat, built with cheap, effective materials, can be produced without an assle for militaries in need with just eight easy payments of yadda yadda bing bong. You'll enjoy hundreds of ours of not awaking to the screams of ornery rats each evening as they fester in your rags with this natural repellent. The peppercoat is also prime to double as a blanket for heeavy winter weather, reducing the incidence of frostbite or other cold-related afflictions th average drone may encounter in the trenches. Get yours today!

Available at imperial quarters near you for just fifteen francs each.